To give someone access to Google Search Console, follow these steps:

Step-by-step plan

- Log in to Google Search Console with the Google account that owns the property you want to grant access to.
- Select the correct website (property) in the dashboard.
- At the bottom of the left-hand menu, click “Settings”.
- Go to “Users and permissions” (or "Users & permissions").
- Click “Add user” at the top right.
- Enter the e-mail address of the person you want to give access to (this must be a Google account).
- Choose the right permission level: "Full" (administrator) or "Restricted" (view data only).
- Click “Add”; the person will receive a confirmation e-mail and will then have access.

Important tips

- Never share your own Google account: always add users individually for security and a clear overview.
- Regularly check who has access and remove users when the collaboration ends.
- With these steps, you can safely and in a controlled way give someone else access to Google Search Console for your website.
